Dear Mr. Schunicht,

Thank you for sending your materials to WGBH. Although we are not interested in pursuing a project based on your discovery at this time, we appreciate your interest and wish you the best of luck in the future.

Sincerely,

Evan Hadingham

Dear Mr. Schunicht,

I was so disappointed to receive your materials in today's mail. Last week you told a colleague of mine that you would remove my name from your address book. Since July of 2004, in several letters and telephone calls, I have tried to explain to you that my employer is not interested in pursuing your story. I feel badly that you are spending so much money to send me materials which I have consistently turned down. You would save us both the cost of postage by not writing again.

Sincerely yours,
